

Culture

You may never work at another company like Manna Freight Systems, Inc. That's partly because we hope you'll never want to leave us, and partly because this is a great place to launch or advance a career. We are a transportation company that searches out underserved segments of the marketplace and then works to become the leader in the chosen niche. Our company has grown by double digits every year since 2005, far out-pacing our competitors. We plan for long term growth and we need good people to fuel that growth in a stable and profitable way.

We are a privately held U.S. company founded in 1991, proud of our heritage and excited about our future. We need bright individuals who want a career in the transportation industry helping some of the world's finest corporations meet their supply chain and logistics needs. We depend on leading edge technologies and old-fashioned ingenuity. Our headquarters is home to our call center, sales, operations, human resources, administrative, accounting, IT, and marketing departments. We also maintain a sales office in San Francisco.
